THE COMMUNITY NEEDS YOU.

YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

1 in 4 children in North Carolina lives in poverty without access to opportunities to reach their full potential.

All kids deserve the opportunity to discover who they are and what they can achieve, under the guidance of caring adults who believe in their potential.

HEALTHY LIVING

23% of N.C. adults are not physically active and even more are obese and at risk for chronic disease.

We help people and families build and maintain healthy habits for spirit, mind and body in their everyday lives. From diabetes prevention to active older adult programs, the Y helps individuals live healthier.

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

1 in 5 individuals in North Carolina struggles to make ends meet.

With our doors open to all, we bring people from all backgrounds together and support those who need us most. Our members, volunteers, supporters and staff demonstrate the power of what we can achieve by giving back together.

Elizabeth Wagoner, 30, has always been active. She loves running and working out. She was more motivated than ever when she saw her dad join a weight loss program at the Y, where he built healthy habits that have lasted years. The Y became a place that the whole family could enjoy spending time together being active.

When she started feeling sick last October, she was first told it was an infection. In February of this year she was diagnosed with Non-Hodgkin’s lymphoma. The diagnosis alone would be a shock for any young person just starting out in adulthood. But the timing was especially bad for Elizabeth. As a sixth grade teacher, she had watched her students experience difficult life situations, especially those in foster care. She wanted to do something to help and had decided to become a foster parent. “I wanted to give a child the love and support they need until their situation improved and they could return home or be placed with a permanent family,” she said.

She was diagnosed just days before her foster daughters, ages 8 and 9, were coming to live with her. It was an unimaginable situation, but Elizabeth’s support system stepped in to help her, with fellow family members also becoming certified foster parents. The Y stepped in as well.

The Y was able to offer financial assistance so that Elizabeth’s foster daughters could attend After School. This summer, they were able to go to YMCA Camp Hanes, where they made new friends and lifelong memories. “They loved everything about summer camp,” Elizabeth says. “Seeing them learn and grow has been the best part. They haven’t had what we might call a normal childhood, so being able to be in these environments with other children is so important for the girls.”

Elizabeth finished cancer treatment in June and was able to join the Live/STRONG® at the YMCA program, where she met fellow survivors who had undergone cancer treatment. “Just being around people who have been through the same thing you have means so much. We were all from different walks of life, but in the same situation.”

Today, Elizabeth is cancer free and her foster daughters are thriving. “I am so grateful to the Y for allowing my family to experience things we wouldn’t have been able to otherwise. The Y has been a stronghold for me.”

Elizabeth had also been thinking about her family’s future and how she could help and had decided to become a foster parent. “I wanted to give a child the love and support they need until their situation improved and they could return home or be placed with a permanent family,” she said.
